dist church at Brooklet has been re-grams to be held every Wednesday night and the public is cordially invited to attend these sessions. At the ensuing year was held and elected

Davies, vice president; Mrs. R. G.
Naylor, 1st superintendent; Miss Emma Slater, 2nd superintendent; Miss Ruth Parish, 3rd superintendent;
Mrs. J. L. Lee, 4th superintendent;
W. Coleman, treasurer; Miss Mary Slater, secretary; Miss Elm, En-gager.

of much constructive work and all

FARMERS ARE INTERESTED IN PARCEL POST RATES

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 30.—Agriculturists here and in other sections of the south, judging by reports received at the state capital, are intensely interested in legislation now before Congress, to reduce parcel post rates on farm products and at the same time, by allowing the mail carrier a commission, to increase the rates.

The legislation was introduced by U.
S. Senator W. J. Harris, of Georgia, who appeared before the senate postoffice committee and discussed the plan in detail. The committee, reports received here state, agreed indefinitely to report the Harris bill favorably with the plan to be tried for one year. The postoffice department has agreed to a conference with Senator Harris to try out the experiment.

Supporters of the Harris bill contend that small amounts of farm products are going to waste because the producer does not have time to go to town to market small lots, as it would not be profitable, and the consumer in town is missing available products.

The Georgia Senator proposes to handle the business at special rates on the rural routes, with the mail carrier getting a special commission. It will not involve additional appropriations as the mail carrier is already provided with facilities.

THE NATION'S OUTLOOK.

Experts agree that the standards of living, house activity, prices and related subjects, upon which conditions were measured eight or nine years ago, have had a most radical change. Nearly all close students of economics are of the opinion that standards which prevailed before the war are likely to return for many years, if at all. Higher wages, increased production of all classes of commodities, and considerable advancement in the scale of living, all tend toward the maintenance of the higher standards that are now an accepted fact.

One of the most encouraging signs of the times, and a convincing indication of the nation's great commercial activity, is the substantial basis upon which the railroads are now operating. The extent to which the railroads are now operating on a profitable basis is generally regarded as an excellent criterion of the country's condition, commercially and industrially. With railroad earnings reaching new high-levels —reports show this to be a fact—logical to assume that there has been a heavy production and distribution of goods of all kinds. Close observers of current events look for sustained activity among the railroads for some time to come.

An exceptionally large increase in savings deposits throughout the country, phenomenal gains in the production and distribution of automobiles and unparalleled activity in the construction field—these are high lights of the past year that will undoubtedly influence to a considerable extent the economic and most scientific conditions during the next twelve months.

NEGRO FARMERS CONFERENCE AT STATESBORO INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

There will be held on February 5th and 6th, at the colored industrial school, a farmers conference. Principal James and his co-workers are planning to make this the largest and most profitable of all the conferences they have held. Several leading educators and agriculturists will address the meetings. Some of the questions to be discussed are the boll weevil pest, diversified farming, home anicultivation, boys club clubs and questions pertaining to schools and better school houses.

By order of the county superintendent, all colored schools in the county will be closed on Friday and teachers are requested to attend the conference.

ARE YOU NERVOUS?

Maybe There is a Cause For It That You Can Correct.

Many who suffer from backache and weak kidneys are unnaturally irritable, fretful and nervous. Not only does constant backache "get on the nerves," but bad kidneys fail to eliminate all the uric acid from the system, and uric acid irritates the nerves, keeping one "on edge" and causing rheumatism, neuralgic pains. When suffering so try Doan's Pills, the medicine so well recommended by Statesboro people. Read this Statesboro resident's statement:

D. R. Gould, 110 West Main street, says: "I had attacks of kidney complaint and always found Doan's Pills to be just the remedy I needed. I got down with miserable pains through the small of my back and I was in bad shape. My kidneys acted irregularly and I became so nervous I could fly to pieces. Doan's Pills which I bought at the Ellis Drug Store did me of the backache and returned my kidneys to normal. Doan's kept me enjoying good health."

MRS. CANDLER READY FOR FIGHT IN COURT

NEW WIFE OF COCA COLA KING FACES CHARGE OF DISORDERLY CONDUCT IN ATLANTA

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 12.—Illness of Chief of Police James L. Beavers caused postponement today of the case against Mrs. Asa G. Candler, Mrs. W. J. Stoddard and G. W. Keeling, charged with violating a section of the city code which provides for the arrest of people who are found in places where intoxicants are found.

The cases were continued until Chief Beavers is able to appear in court. He has been ill at his home since Sunday. He, in company with Police Captain A. J. Holcombe, made the arrests last Saturday afternoon.

The principals were in court today when the cases were called and the court room was filled with spectators attracted by the trials of the wife of a millionaire and two prominent business men. Mrs. Candler, driving her car, Mrs. J. B. Brown, arrived fifteen minutes before the cases were called. They sat in Chief Beavers' office until called into the court room.

Mr. Stoddard, prominent dry cleaner and president of the National Association of Dry Cleaners and Dyers, and Mr. Keeling, president of a local brick manufacturing company, were also in the court. Attorney Cam Dorsey appeared for Mrs. Candler and Attorney Ben Conyers for the two men.

The counsel vigorously opposed the motion of Assistant City Attorney Jesse M. Wood to continue the cases until the police chief could attend. Mr. Wood declared that the chief's testimony was essential, while the defendants' lawyers asserted that Capt. Holcombe's would be adequate.

Recorder George E. Johnson, in postponing the case, declared "It does not make any difference whether they are millionaires or paupers, they all look alike in my court down here on Deatur street."

The cases are the outgrowth of the arrest of Mrs. Candler and the two business men in an apartment house at 48 Juniper street while they were sitting around a table on which reposed a bottle containing liquor. They are under bonds of $100 each which were signed by Stoddard when the chief took them to the police station Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Candler faced a battery of cameras as she stepped from her motor this morning at the police station. She did not flinch and passed into the building accompanied by her sister and a young woman companion whose name she refused to disclose. Mrs. Brown told the newspaper men that the young woman was a friend of her sister, and the reporters identified her as having been seen Sunday at the apartment in which the arrest was made Saturday.

Mr. Stoddard and Mr. Keeling came in a few minutes afterwards, accompanied by their attorney. After the continuance of the cases, the young wife of the Atlanta capitalist faced the camera again as she walked to her handsome sedan, took her place at the wheel and drove off down Deatur street. "We concerned with her attorneys while walking to her car."

Mrs. Candler is staying with her mother, Mrs. T. M. Little, in the handsome home which has been erected for her on fashionable Pace's ferry road since the marriage in June, Mrs. Brown told the reporters. She has not been in the palatial home of her husband in the exclusive Druid Hills section since Saturday, it was stated.

As G. Candler Sr. has made no statement since the arrest of his wife, who before he married her last June, was Mrs. May Little Ragin, a public stenographer in the Candler building. None of the Candler family have made statements for publication.

Secretary Denby made no statement last night on the senate's action, which came as the climax of a day charged with dramatic developments in the oil inquiry at the capital.

William G. McAdoo, candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, appeared before the investigating committee to explain further his employment as counsel by E. L. Doherty, and during the debate on the oil inquiry, Senator Johnson of California, candidate for the Republican nomination, declared the government should "sweep out every bribe-giver, every bribe-taker, every guilty of negligence, contributory or deliberate."

At the same time a letter from Attorney General Daugherty to Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, calling for his resignation, was made public, and the Montana senator indicated he would move promptly with the request. A decision was deferred until Thursday, however, due to the absence from the city of Senator Willis.

"HEN PARTY" There will be a hen party at Mill Creek school Friday afternoon, Feb. 22nd. The proceeds will be for the school. Everybody is cordially invited.

LEILA WYATT, Teacher.

TO THE GOVERNMENT. They are the bulk of federal revenue, he says.

As income increases, Mr. Hunter shows, they are derived more and more from interest and dividends on investments, rents, trust funds and inheritances. Such incomes would not receive the proposed 25 per cent credit.

The federal tax at present on a net income of $4,000 is $28. The Mellon plan would cut this tax to $21, and if the income is derived from wages, salaries or fees, the tax would be reduced to $15.75.

A net income of $6,000, Mr. Hunter explains, requires the payment of $128 in taxes. The Mellon reductions would bring this sum down to $96, and in case the income is "earned," it would be cut to $72.

The total savings to taxpayers promised by the Mellon plan is estimated to be $22,000,000. Of this $22,750,000 would be saved to people having incomes of $6,000 or less. No other income classification would save nearly as much.

It appears to be certain that whatever congress does in the way of reducing taxes it will lower the rate upon earned incomes, in the opinion of Mr. Hunter. The scheme is popular, he says. Republicans and Democrats alike are endeavoring to acquire political merit as advocates of it.

"Conservatives and radicals both are awaiting impatiently the opportunity to speak in its favor," says Mr. Hunter. Politics for once is in agreement. It finds it necessary to be.

"What other state has ever passed a law so outrageous as this?" "It limits the vote to one of its own citizens and then empowers the citizen selected to appoint his own delegates. If this plan is adopted, it is objectionable on the grounds that it is a cowardly effort on the part of Mr. Underwood and his friends to protect him from the rivalry of any outside candidate; and it is also objectionable because it takes from the people the right to select their own delegates and deposits the authority with any citizen of the state who may receive a plurality—not a majority—in the primary."

"Under this law Dr. A. A. Murphy, though born in Alabama, would not be allowed to file as a candidate against Mr. Underwood in that state. When was bosom ever so boldly indured?"

"Even Tammany or the Republican machine of Philadelphia would hardly propose a plan that excluded an outside candidate and turned the election over to a presidential aspirant who received a plurality even though it be less than a majority of the votes cast. But it is possible that Mr. Underwood is not thinking of himself but is contemplating the abolition of the presidential primary."

"Of course, there can be no presidential primary if the voter of each state must vote for a citizen of their state. That would make forty-eight candidates in forty-eight states, each candidate owning a hand-picked delegate."

"The national convention would be market day for forty-eight aspiring politicians who would be at liberty to auction off the presidential candidate to the highest bidder—a candidate mortgaged in advance to the handful of men who secured his nomination."

"Is this the kind of politics Mr. Underwood favors?"

"We have never had a national convention so unrepresentative as this Underwood plan would give us, if adopted by all states."

"Mr. Masgrove, Mr. Underwood's opponent, already had the advantage of being dry and progressive and the representative of the people of Alabama, while Mr. Underwood was the representative of the wets, of big game and of the predatory interests with the passage of the law, establishing the Underwood plan, excluding rivalry and permitting him to select delegates."

BRYAN LAMBASTS UNDERWOOD MACHINE

PLAN TO CONTROL VOTE OF ALABAMA SAVOR OF VERIEST MACHINE POLITICS

Miami, Fla., Feb. 12.—William Jennings Bryan Tuesday termed the candidacy for the presidency of Senator Oscar Underwood, of Alabama, as "an American and un-American," and charged that the law of Alabama had been tampered with to make his chances for nomination more successful.

He referred to recent legislation in that state pertaining to the presidential primary.

In a public statement he said: "Mr. Underwood and his political friends secured the passage of a law in Alabama which is unique in legislation. It provides for a presidential primary whenever a citizen of the state of Alabama files for presidential nomination and prohibits the placing on the ballot the name of anyone outside the state." The law provides also that there shall be no second choice voting in such a primary.

"A still more startling provision of the law is that the 'citizen of the state of Alabama' who shall have received a plurality of votes cast, shall select members of the state delegation for the national convention and shall be permitted to select a double number of delegates if he so desires, each delegate to have in such case a half vote."

"What other state has ever passed a law so outrageous as this?" "It limits the vote to one of its own citizens and then empowers the citizen selected to appoint his own delegates. If this plan is adopted, it is objectionable on the grounds that it is a cowardly effort on the part of Mr. Underwood and his friends to protect him from the rivalry of any outside candidate; and it is also objectionable because it takes from the people the right to select their own delegates and deposits the authority with any citizen of the state who may receive a plurality—not a majority—in the primary."

DEMOCRATS CALLED TO MEET SATURDAY

WILL BE GIVEN INSTRUCTIONS FOR HOLDING COMING PRIMARY ELECTION.

Formal notices are being mailed direct to the members of the Democratic executive committee of the county to assemble in Statesboro Saturday afternoon. They are being asked to designate in advance of that time the election managers for their respective districts and to have these managers with them at the meeting. The meeting will be held in the court house at 2 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to be present.

The object of the meeting is to become familiar with the legal manner of conducting the primary election for county officers to be held on the 27th of February, which is the first to be held under the new Australian election law. There are so many vital changes in the law that it is deemed necessary for those who will be charged with the responsibility of conducting the elections in the various districts, to meet and have the requirements explained in detail.

Under the law it will be unlawful for any person except those charged with the duty of holding the election, to have in their possession any ballot or copy of the ballot to be voted at the primary. These ballots are to be delivered to the election holders on the day of the meeting in Statesboro, next Saturday, and these election holders are charged under penalty of law with strictest secrecy. No ballot will be given into the hands of any voter until that person shall have applied to the election managers for permission to vote. His name must first be ascertained to appear upon the registration list. He will then be given a ticket and will be required to enter a private booth and there fill out his ballot. The ballot, when given to him, will be a ticket bearing upon its back a number which corresponds with a coupon which he has attached from the top of his ballot. No two ballots will bear the same number. The ballots for the different districts will be distinguished by different letters.

In the event any voter is unable for any reason to fill out his ticket, this will be done for him by two of the election managers. One alone will not do the trick.

From four to ten booths will be provided at the various precincts of the county, so that there may be no delay in the voting. Only one person may enter a booth at one time. It is estimated that the average time required to prepare a ballot after it has been placed in the voter's hands, will be three minutes. This will limit the voting to twenty per hour at each booth. In a precinct where there are three hundred voters—and there are many such in the county—this would require 16 continuous voting hours, when there was only one booth, assuming that there is no loss of time between the voters. There will inevitably be delay—possibly half the time will be lost through delay, which will mean an average of only ten votes per hour at each booth. For that reason, a large number of booths will be necessary—from four to ten, according to the number of possible voters. It will likewise be necessary
